

How to save your work from Garage Band in/to your MusicStudent folder

- 1) Open Garage Band by clicking on the guitar icon on the dock.

- 2) Click Create New Music Project

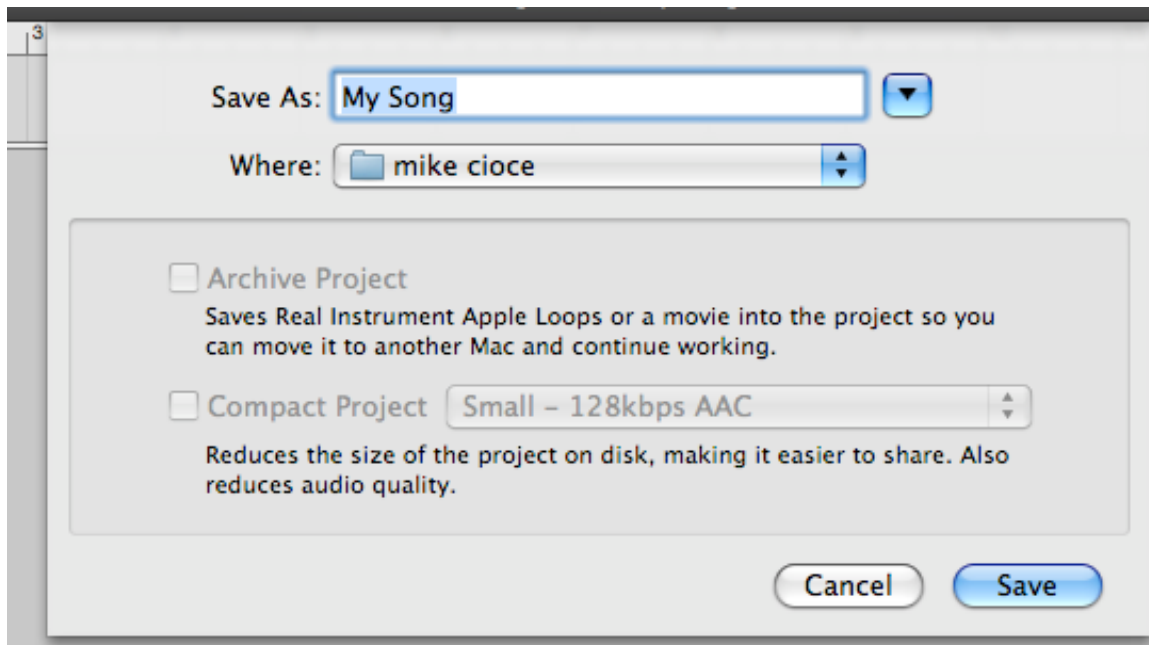

- 3) Give the project a name you will remember. For projects you edit over a period of days, I find it helpful to put the date after the title so that you can revert back to an old version or use it as a reference. For example, "Herschel Walker's Secret Pudding 7/8/09."

4) You can set your key, tempo, and time signature now but if you are playing it by ear, don't worry, you can change all that stuff later.

5) It will now ask you where you want to save your project. Look below and click on the downward-pointing arrow to the right of the Save As...

Then, click on music student, then your personal folder. Look below for a screen shot of this step.

6) If you are already in Garage Band go to file, save as, click on music student, and click on your personal folder.
